PREFACE

This compilation covers lists of Refereed Journal Papers, Conference Papers, Technical Reports, Books, Book Chapters, Newsletter articles, Production/Training Guides and Manuals, Research Briefs and others authored by Research Scientists of CSIR-Crops Research Institute (CSIR-CRI) and other collaborating scientists, from their research findings. It may not be a complete list but “Half a loaf is better than none”.

For some of the Refereed Journal Papers the authors initially indicated that the manuscripts had been submitted to a Journal for publishing. Some were later found published and it is expected that the others may be found later. For some published journal papers the volume number and pages of the Journal cited were not indicated. In some cases only the list of authors, year and title were found. All these have been listed so that if the authors can be identified and located (possibly at conferences and other meetings or at CSIR-CRI) they may be consulted for the desired publication.

The Technical Reports listed include reports on donor-supported programmes, consultancies and reports submitted to the National Variety Release and Registration Committee, prior to the release of improved crop varieties developed at CSIR -CRI. Some Research reports submitted internally to the Director of CSIR-CRI as Annual Reports by the Research Scientists have also been listed.

Minimum editing was done during the compilation to avoid misrepresentation. For example for the same conference, details of the date and location varied among some participants. Effort was made to minimise duplication. For example where a conference paper was later published as a refereed journal paper the latter is listed with a note indicating where it had earlier been presented as a conference paper.

Among the Authors listed the names of the Research Scientists of CSIR-CRI are in bold letters for easy identification. If any of such names is not in bold letters it may be due to oversight. Some research scientists who had left the Institute but were co-authors with their colleagues at the Institute have also been listed as CSIR-CRI staff for convenience.

It is expected that this work shall encourage research scientists to get their research findings published to debunk the old time notion that research findings are gathering dust on the shelves. Thus the contribution of CSIR-CRI Research Scientists to agricultural development globally, and in Ghana in particular, cannot be overlooked.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

To God be the glory for endowing us with good health, wisdom and the spirit of persistence and cooperation needed to undertake this exercise.

The support from Professor M.B. Mochiah, Director of CSIR-Crops Research Institute, that made the dream a reality, is very much appreciated.

The kind gesture of all research scientists who voluntarily provided a list of their scientific publications is also appreciated.

The support from Mrs Lawrencia Donkor and Mr. Ransford Asamoah is also greatly appreciated.

OBJECTIVES

This work was done with the following objectives:

- a. To make known the contribution to global Body of Knowledge by Research Scientists of CSIR-CRI, particularly in the area of Agricultural Research.
- b. To serve as a reference and a guide to “new and young” research scientists at CSIR-CRI and elsewhere, as to research activities (Titles) that have been carried out at the Institute, the scientists (Authors) who did the work, when (Year) the work was done and how the findings or results have been disseminated. This may help to identify areas for further investigations while avoiding “re-inventing the wheel” with limited resources.
- c. To make known the extent of collaboration between Research Scientists of CSIR-CRI and other Institutions (local and international) as reflected in the authorship of the various publications.
- d. To make known the communication channels / media used by CSIR-CRI research scientists to share and disseminate their research findings. Apart from the usual scientific publications (Refereed Journal Papers, Conference papers, etc) CSIR-CRI scientists occasionally organised programmes with Radio (FM) stations where research findings were disseminated. The scientists also gave lectures during training programmes organised for students and front line staff of the Ministry of Agriculture. Other channels of dissemination used by CSIR-CRI (not listed) include exhibitions attended to showcase research products and field demonstrations held with extension workers and farmers throughout the country.
